Sunday's Gospel reading - Luke 12: 13-21

Wealth can be a burden as well as a blessing. Luke is particularly concerned with the right relationship to money and so urges his readers to be "rich towards God" as a first priority. The parable is of the rich fool who was blessed with good returns for his labour - nothing wrong with that - but who sought his personal security and ease through abundance of his possessions, is held up as an example. At his demise these possessions counted for nothing. We commonly regard Jesus' hearers as poor and landless labourers and such may well have been true. But to them, as much as to the wealthy among us, the word of Jesus points to a perennial wisdom. As one of the wealthy nations amidst a great sea of global poverty, how might we take to heart Jesus' words. "So it is those who store up treasures for themselves but are not rich towards God"?

It was great to have Rev Janelle McGregor call into the Community Centre and Op-Shop on Thursday. Janelle met the volunteers and chatted to the folk who come for morning tea. The Rev John Steed and Janelle are available for pastoral care for the period we are without a minister. Please do not hesitate to contact John or Janelle through Nely.

We have entered the season of Djilba a transitional period, marking the end of the cold and wet season (Makuru) and the beginning of the warmer weather of Kambarang. It falls in August and September. Characterized by a mix of cold, clear days and warmer, rainy or windy days, Djilba is also known as the season of conception as many animals begin breeding and wildflowers begin to bloom.

Orange Sky

Karen has done the training, she's got her uniform and is ready to go. Orange Sky is just waiting for two more people to sign up with them. St Martin's has our on site volunteers to do the sausage sizzle and hospitality. Flyers have been printed and are going up through out the Forrestfield area to say "it's happening". What an amazing opportunity to connect with people doing it tough and also to show off our fabulous renovated carpark.
